Special Election Dec. 13 to Select Village President

Board Will Meet in Special Session Tuesday on Dairy Debt

December 13 has been set as the date for the special primary in which a successor to the late George B. Bartlett, mayor of Antioch will be selected.

No one has filed for the candidacy as yet, but candidates have until 35 days before the election to place their names on the ballot Clerk L. D. Powles said.

Trustee Murrill Cunningham is serving as acting president until the new president is chosen by popular vote.

Mr. Bartlett was elected to office last April and his successor will have nearly three years, and four months of his unexpired term to serve.

Plans for the election were made at a special meeting of the board last Thursday evening. At this meeting property owners on Orchard street and Hillside ave., were given a report of the progress of the sewer and water main construction. The contractor is expected to put in his bill when he completes the drainage areas for the project and finishes his contract for Barney Naber. No meeting for final payment will be necessary, but will be handled by the supervisor, Walter I. Scott.

The board will meet in special session next Tuesday evening to discuss the Willowdale Dairy sewerage disposal indebtedness. It was said that a representative of the company will be present.

Teachers Will Attend Meeting of North Shore I.E.A. at Evanston, Ill.

School bells will not ring for public school children in this community Friday, but teachers will assemble at Evanston Township High School for their annual all-day meeting.

Four thousand Lake Shore teachers, members of the Illinois Education association, will attend a unique session of forty discussion and demonstration groups, supplemented by an address on "Life in the Atomic Age" by Robert H. Montgomery, graduate professor of economics, University of Texas.

Teachers will be given a choice of attending the group discussions which interest them most. This type of a program, according to Miss Hazel Phillips, co-chairman of the program committee with President Ruth Broom, proved very popular last year when it was tried for the first time.

These group meetings will begin at 11:30 a. m. and continue until the several subjects have been covered to the satisfaction of all concerned. High school topics include four demonstrations on teaching critical thinking, junior town meetings, preparation for marriage and family life, and UNESCO in the classroom.

Discussion groups will consider trends in industrial education in high schools, business education problems, basic concepts in the teaching of speech, what math should be taught non-college preparatory students, physical education programs, health and safety, sex education and creative art.

Topics slanted for elementary school teachers include problems in reading, physical education, the five-year-olds, guidance in the elementary school, music can be fun, developing better human relations, are education, grading systems and report cards, teaching poetry and science, radio in the classroom, the school library, visual aids program, and a demonstration in choral reading.

Other groups will consider education for exceptional children, pupil-teacher planning, student councils for junior high schools, planning United Nations programs, and a "Workshop for teachers' demonstration."

Several specialists from colleges and universities in the Chicago area will assist the teachers and administrators in conducting the group discussions.

Grade School P. T. A. Hears Talk on European Tour by Jo Ann True

The Antioch Grade School Parent-Teacher association was well attended Monday evening by both fathers and mothers.

Miss Jo Ann True, a student of Whiting, Ind., gave an interesting account of her good will tour during the past summer in England, Scotland and Ireland.

Nancy Swenson sang a selection and Victor Lubkeman played his accordion which were greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. F. A. Swenson seventh grade room mother and her committee.

A poll of the parents attending was taken, and the second and third grades were a tie, both having 12 parents in attendance.

Sequoits Will Battle Palatine Friday Night In Homecoming Game

Beat Wauconda Here Last Week By Decisive Score, 31-0

Determined to repeat their performance of last year in which they defeated Palatine 13 to 7 in the conference opener, Antioch Township High will play the Tigers here tomorrow evening in a Homecoming game.

"It won't be easy but I believe we can win," said Coach Maurice Kruzan who noted that Palatine defeated Bensenville who in turn routed the Sequoits.

The Antioch team had a breather against Wauconda last Friday in which the Sequoits won 31 to 0. Coach Kruzan used all 32 members of his squad which kept the score down. The score at the half was 19 to 0. The game was characterized by long runs by backfield men.

It was Wauconda's "Homecoming" game but was played on the Antioch field. The visitors then returned to Wauconda for the Homecoming dance. There was a good crowd for the game.

It was the first victory of the year for Antioch, however. There were no injuries for the Sequoits and they are in good condition for tomorrow night's game.

While taking each game as it comes, the Antioch boys already have in mind the game with Grant township the following week there.

Television Engineer Will Address Lions at Dinner Meeting Mon.

William Block, engineer in charge of transmission for the television station WBKB, Chicago, will address the Lions club at its dinner meeting at 7 p. m. Monday at the North Shore resort, Lake Catherine.

Block will take for his subject, "Television Today and Tomorrow," showing what television has accomplished and indicating what may be expected of it in the future.

Block's behind the scenes experience in the television business makes it possible for him to speak with authority on this subject. The meeting will be devoted entirely to the program and no business will be transacted.

County Civic League Will Meet Oct. 25 at Christ Church in Waukegan

The annual membership meeting of the Lake County Civic League, a non-profit and non-partisan organization of taxpayers with representative memberships in every township in Lake county, will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 25.

Walton R. L. Taylor, executive secretary of the league, has obtained use of Memorial Hall in the Parish House of Christ church at 410 Grand ave., Waukegan, for the meeting.

E. F. Mansure, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association will be the speaker. His subject, "Your Stake in Government" is based on the findings of the Hoover commission and is particularly interesting to anyone at all concerned about the soaring taxes levied against citizens of the United States.

In addition to the speaker, the program will include election of directors and officers of the Lake County Civic league for the 1949-50 fiscal year, and action on the proposed revision of the league by-laws.

Fred B. Swanson and Antioch News Will Be Halloween Party Hosts

Prizes will be Given for Best Costumes During a Theatre Party

For the fifteenth year the Antioch News and Fred B. Swanson of the Antioch theatre will be hosts to the youngsters of Antioch at a Halloween party; Monday evening, Oct. 31.

Children of grade school, kindergarten and pre-school age in the village are invited to mask for the occasion and 42 prizes will be given.

The children will meet at the grade school building as in previous years and will leave at 6:30 p. m. on a parade down Main st. to the Antioch theatre on Lake st., where they will be admitted free.

After the children parade before the judges on the stage for prizes they will take seats and see an interesting movie and short subjects.

Four prizes will be given for each grade, the kindergarten and the pre-school children, a total of 40 prizes. In addition two grand prizes will be given. The Antioch News will award the prizes up to the fourth grade and Mr. Swanson for those from the fourth to the eighth grades. He will furnish the pictures. Treats will be distributed to all children who participate.

Principal Richard Whitaker of the public school assisted by staff members will direct the parade as he did in former years.

It is probable that a second generation will have participated in this Halloween festival since the first one was held in 1934. At the party 15 years ago, 150 children took part in the parade; last year they numbered nearly 450.

Boy Scout News

The boys are very active this week selling tickets for their Benefit Show at the Lakes Theatre Wed. and Thurs., Oct. 19-20.

Scoutmaster Rick Eckert, says from all reports there will be a complete sell out for all performances.

There are to be three prizes awarded to the three boys selling the most tickets. Competition for these prizes is very keen as the deadline draws near. Proceeds from the show will be used to purchase equipment and finance the troop's activities throughout the year.

The Antioch Boy Scouts are planning a Parents Night Wednesday, Oct. 26. The parents and friends of all the boy scouts are urged to attend and see scouting in action.

There will be a movie made at camp this year. Several skits by the boys and refreshments to end the evening. Please plan to attend and notify Scoutmaster Eckert of your intentions, either at the benefit show or by calling Antioch 219-M-2, so the boys know about how much to prepare for the evening's refreshments.

Scouts to Meet Friday
The Cub Scouts will hold their monthly pack meeting at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Scout House.

Romae Beedle to Reign As Homecoming Queen; Parade to Be Tonight

Her Crowning Will Take Place at H. S. Dance Tomorrow Night

Miss Romae Beedle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Beedle, will reign as queen at the annual Homecoming of Antioch Township High school tomorrow.

She will be crowned during the dance following the Palatine-Antioch football game at night.

Miss Beedle, a senior, will have as her court of honor Joyce Strametz, representing the senior class; Marilyn Wallace, junior; Jill Mahoney, sophomore; and Mary Fields, freshman.

The queen and her escort will take part in the parade, which is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. today. Many organizations have planned floats for the parade and it is expected to be a good one.

After the parade the crowd will go to the school grounds where there will be a bonfire, snake dance and session of speeches and cheers for the football team.

Harold Cardiff, president of the student body will have charge of the program.

Art Smekal's orchestra will play for the Homecoming dance after the game tomorrow night. The public is invited.

Junior Class to Present Mystery Comedy, "Out On a Limb," Nov. 17-18

"Out On a Limb," a mystery comedy, will be presented by the Junior class of the Antioch Township High school for its annual play the evenings of Nov. 17 and 18 at the school auditorium.

The cast, already chosen, and to be announced later, has begun practice under the direction of Miss Jeannette Darrough. Miss Darrough has coached class plays for the school several years and has had much success along this line.

"Out On a Limb," a royalty play, is said to combine hilarious comedy with mystery and is a type of play that has proved popular here.

With only a month between now and presentation time the students are practicing almost nightly in preparation.

Wilmet High May Have 2nd Ballot On Bldg. Proposal

Because of legal technicalities, in connection with the make-up of the ballot used in a recent special election, calling for the erection of a new building to house the Wilmet school or an addition to the present building, a second referendum may be necessary.

A considerable fight looms in the second balloting, as there has been much discussion as to the location of the new building, many of the electors believing the location at Wilmet being a bad one in that many of the students have too far to travel to get to school.

No School Friday
There will be no classes Friday in the Antioch grade and high schools while teachers attend the annual Lake Shore Division meeting of the Illinois Educators association at Evanston.

Frank Huber, Aged 70, Formerly Widely Known Antioch Resident Dies

Funeral in Santa Monica, Calif. Was Veteran Fire- man and Mason

Frank Huber, 70, former widely known resident of Antioch, died unexpectedly Sunday morning in Santa Monica, Calif.

He left Antioch in July, 1948 to make his home in Venice, Calif., with his niece, but returned here for a visit recently, spending three weeks and leaving about two weeks ago. At that time he seemed to be in good health.

The word of his death came to the Masonic lodge which authorized a Masonic burial by the lodge in Santa Monica since the distance was too great for local members to attend.

Mr. Huber was a member of the Antioch lodge 45 years and served as its secretary 35 years. He was master of the lodge in 1909 and 1910. He was honored in a special meeting before his departure.

Mr. Huber was perhaps better known in the community through his 47 years of service on the fire department. He was president of the department 12 years. He helped organize and was the first president of the Lake County Firemen's association.

Prior to his leaving the fire department gave Mr. Huber a farewell dinner at Pregoner's resort.

Mr. Huber was a painter and with his brother engaged in the sign painting business on Depot st in the building now being occupied by the Antioch Mill. For many years their main business was painting buggies and wagons.

Details of his death and burial have not yet been received.

Kohler and McMillen Named Defendants in $15,000 Damage Suit

Jim McMillen, Antioch's fire chief and proprietor of a cement building block factory here, was made a defendant, along with Fred Kohler, promoter of wrestling shows at Round Lake and in Chicago, in a suit to collect $15,000 in damages allegedly sustained by Mrs. Mary E. Schmitt of Chicago on July 25.

Mrs. Schmitt's complaint charges McMillen with being unskilled as a wrestler because he was unable to stay in the ring, when he was tossed out of the ring into her lap.

Cardinal Stritch Dedicates School In First Visit Here

Calls Local Parish Complete On Occasion of 50th Anniversary

Antioch experienced one of those rare occasions Sunday in a visit of His Eminence Samuel Cardinal Stritch in dedicating the new parish school at St. Peter's Catholic church and in recognizing the Golden Jubilee anniversary of the local church.

The church was filled Sunday afternoon by parishioners in hearing a sermon by the Cardinal on the occasion of his first visit here.

He and his attendants first went to the church for the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at 4 p. m. and then went to the school building where he gave his blessings to the building and its interior, and dedicated it.

Cardinal Stritch was assisted by Monsignor Hardiman, who acted as master of ceremonies, and Father Daniel Harnett, of Grayslake, and Father John Coleman of Fox Lake, deacon and subdeacon.

More than 40 priests including 10 Monsignors were in the procession and assisted in the sanctuary. Several representatives from the Alexian Brothers and about 40 Sisters of Charity came from nearby communities and from Dubuque, Ia.

Those in charge estimated the crowd at 1,000 parishioners and friends. Traffic was directed by county and village police. Acting Mayor Merrill Cunningham and members of the village board were among the civic groups invited for the occasion.

Courtesy was given Cardinal Stritch and the visiting clergymen by Antioch townsmen as well as parishioners. The veterans organizations presented the colors and the Antioch Rescue squad, firemen, and the Holy Name society formed a guard as the procession entered and left the church and school.

"From this time on this will be a real parish," the Cardinal told his audience at the church, "because we shall be educating our children in the shadow of the church."

"Why do we go to this trouble to educate these children?" he asked. "It is because we insist in training Catholics in the holiness of the church, in the faith of our fathers."

Cardinal Stritch reviewed education for the masses dating it back to the time of the printing press.

"The danger in the training of pupils thereafter was that it was possible that those who were oblivious to Holy truth would be given their direction," he said.

The Cardinal characterized the school as the auxiliary to the home. "Where the school is not in harmony with the home it cannot be an auxiliary to the home," he said.

Both, he concluded, are designed for the perpetuation of the church. From the home and the school many come who will serve the church in missions and in the priesthood.

He said that, while the school may be considered a burden by some, it is most important that the children be given this training.

He concluded that not until a school is found in every parish will $12,000,000,000 For Inferior Medicine.

How much would the proposed scheme for compulsory government health insurance cost the taxpayers of this country?

Many estimates have been made, and most of them have contained a large element of guesswork. As a pattern, however, we can take Britain's experience with her "free" medical care plan. According to Aneurin Bevan, the Minister of Health, the plan is costing Britain more than 50 cents a week a person—over twice the original official estimates. The total cost of the system this year will probably exceed $1,500,000,000.

In an editorial on the subject, E. T. Leech, editor of the Pittsburgh Press, says: "On the same per capita cost, a similar U. S. health plan would cost about $6,000,000,000 a year. But far higher living standards would probably make the bill twice that amount." In other words, at a time when the Federal government is unable to make both ends meet even with a $40,000,000,000 income, compulsory health insurance alone would pile up to $12,000,000,000 a year more on the sagging backs of the taxpayers!

And that would not be all—not by a long shot. Government medicine would levy an enormous cost in a coin other than money. It would—if experience elsewhere means anything at all—lower the standards of medical care. It would be a barrier to research and preventive medicine which, in the long run, can do more than anything else to improve the health of a people. It would create a great new political bureaucracy, with sweeping powers over medical practice. And, sooner or later, it would inevitably end in completely socialized medicine.

Keeping The Public Buying.

One the leading retail associations' reports that for the first six months of this year, retail net profits were badly off. Department stores of various sizes showed a net profit after taxes of from less than one per cent to a top of 2.1 per cent. The earnings of specialty shops were also down heavily, as compared with last year.

In the words of the association's bulletin, "These results indicate that the stores recognize how important it is to keep the public buying, even at the sacrifice of considerable profit. After the easy-come sales volume of the war years, and the early post-war years, it is remarkable to see how quickly the stores have adjusted themselves to the changing conditions. From a period when sales promotion effort was scarcely needed, the stores have jumped into the strongest kind of promotional effort."

Keeping the public buying is, of course, the most important factor in maintaining our living standards and our prosperity. Mass production and mass distribution are the foundations of the American economy. They give us employment, opportunity, good wages. And retailing is superbly geared to handle and distribute the vast quantities of goods that flow to it from industry and agriculture.

From the consumers' standpoint, the report on store net profits should be revealing. It is clear that retail prices are being held, in the great majority of instances, to as low a point as possible. The profit on each sale is tiny, and stores depend on mass selling to earn them a reasonable total profit for the year. That is good business for retailing—and it guarantees a good deal for the consumer.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

You know folks, sittin' under a tree once in a full moon and thinkin'—not just sittin'—could pay more dividends than putting in all the time reading how we are to be saved via one more new trick law to be cooked up by Uncle Harry and his boys.

And as you sit and ponder you will maybe become a little dubious as to whether you have been as smart as you thought or have been a sucker all the time, as you look back on how you been voting. For my ownself I got mad years ago when it was the fashion for the guy making the speech to say, "friends, I will now tell you all about it in simple words so everybody will understand." That got me—me, needing kindergarten language—insult, I calls it. And still do.

But to proceed—the guy who is to be hurt worst via a Big and Fancy U. S. A. Govt., is the same kind of guy who was hurt worst via Herr Hitler, and J. Stalin and Mr. Atlee—Mr. Average Guy—us—we will be the goat.

So, the next good day that comes along, go on out there and sit. And while pondering, maybe you can also unravel how-come a limber mayor allows a picket, to clutter up the sidewalk and maybe throw rocks—but you can't do likewise.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

SHORT STORY

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

TRACY clawed his way up over the slippery ledge, threw his skis and poles on the ground and sat down panting. Generva laughed merrily.

"That's what city life does to you," she chided. "See? You can't take it any more."

"For a fact I can't," he grinned. "Phew! What a climb! Skis are no good up here. If we're going to the top we'll have to hob-nail it up."

"We can quit and go down," she said. Her voice held the barest hint of a taunt. She hated herself for it. "Quit nothing! Just because I've been away for two years you needn't think you can stump me." Tracy's eyes flicked over the girl's slim, wiry figure. "Boy, you always could take it," he admired. "Ever since we were kids I've had to hump to keep up with you."

The reference to their childhood escapades brought on a flood of regrets.

Two years ago he had left her with a brotherly clap on the back and a firm handshake. She had almost hated him. He had gone down to the city to become an architect. Then he'd written about Jessica. She was a singer in a night club. He had fallen madly in love with her. His letters had been full of their romance.

Generva had wanted to tell him to stop writing his everlasting prattle about a silly night club singer. Didn't he know that every word was a knife thrust in her heart?

"You know," he said suddenly, "you're growing more lovely every year, Gen. Some day soon a man's coming along and—"

She laughed out loud and scrambled to her feet. "Come on, City Man, we've got to get going if we want to make the top and get back before dark."

"Come on City Man, we've got to get going if we want to make the top before dark."

Tracy grinned and yanked himself up the first steep ascent. Before he had gone 10 feet he realized that it was a foolhardy business. Without ice picks and ropes climbing was hazardous.

He started ahead again and then stopped. Above him, maybe 30 feet away, he could make out the blurred form of Generva.

The blurred outline stopped. He listened for her reply, but if she called the wind drowned it. For an instant her hobnailed boots were clawing against the ice. Then she came coasting down the incline, reaching frantically for bushes that slid through her hands. Tracy made a lunge. His hand caught at her ski jacket as she whipped past, held, felt it slip through his fingers.

A strangled cry escaped his lips. Horror-stricken, he watched her reach the ledge and flip over its edge, disappear. In a moment he was back on the flat ground looking over the edge, not daring to hope.

Fifty feet below he made out a green patch, like a wisp of cloth caught in the gnarled branches of a hardwood shrub.

IT SEEMED like hours before he found footing against a rock 10 feet from where Generva clung to the hardwood shrub. Directly beneath her was a 200-foot chasm.

Tracy slipped the handle of one pole through the wheel of the other, tightened the strap on his wrist and cast out across the ice. At his second attempt Generva grasped the slim bamboo.

"Take it easy," he called. "You'll have to swing down like a pendulum, then slowly upward."

She nodded and released her grip. The impact of her 112 pounds almost caused him to lose his grip. But he held on. The moment she was below him he began pulling upward, hand over hand. In a moment their hands touched and she was safe on the rock.

Tracy's hand reached for hers. There was a queer light in his eyes. "It just came to me," he said, "what this old world would be like without you, Gen. I mean—" he gulped—"I never realized it before. I— Gen, I don't know how to say it."

Her eyes were misty. "Darling, you don't have to. I've been waiting for you to look like that for 10 years."

SECRET BARED

Darius Sign Gaps Filled

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—Ten years ago, a lanky bespectacled professor looked across a mountain gorge in Iran at the famed carvings of the Persian King Darius, chiseled on the face of Mt. Behistun.

He leveled his camera at the 2,400-year-old carvings. Almost at the same time, he snapped a mental shutter of resolve to complete scientific examination of the so-called "Rosetta Stone of Western Asia."

Prof. George Cameron of the University of Michigan says he now is prepared to "fill every major gap" in the famous writings, ending a century of research.

Many Have Tried

Others had made resolutions about the ancient work. Sir Henry Rawlinson climbed half way up the 9,700-foot mountain in 1835 to copy the bas-relief of Darius and the 10 kings he vanquished. Columbia university's A. V. W. Jackson rechecked several lines of the inscription in 1903. In 1904, the British museum sent an expedition to add to the findings of Rawlinson and Jackson.

But there were gaps in the story written in three languages in panels below and to the left of the 18-foot relief. And four columns of writing above and to the right of the "exquisitely" carved relief were described as "illegible" in earlier reports.

Cameron laid his plans while a faculty member at University of Chicago.

The project itself began late last fall, under sponsorship of the American Schools of Oriental Research and the University of Michigan, to which he moved.

Cameron, his wife, Frances, and sons, Douglas and Tom, arrived at the foot of lonely Mt. Behistun on the plains of Kirmanshah early in November and immediately encountered a labor problem.

Balked at Ladder.

Local workers were agreeable about helping until they were led up the mountain to a narrow ledge, above which towered the inscriptions of Darius the Great. There remained a 30-foot ladder climb, then a finger-and-toe-hold ascent of 15 feet to the ledge upon which earlier expeditions had stood.

Nothing doing. Cameron offered as high as 20 times the wage paid for field labor. Nothing doing. Fortunately, two young Kurds named Hussian and Ali came to the rescue.

"All quit after a short time," Cameron relates. "But Hussian—bless his soul—stuck right through the 21 days we worked on the cliff."

Life Term Discovered With 100 Escape Devices

BOSTON—A state's prison life term was clamped into solitary confinement after guards found under his ground-floor cell a tunnel which they said held approximately 100 aids to escape. They planned to ask him about all of them—particularly a plaster model of a human head.

Warden John J. O'Brien identified the lifer as Walter Perry, 43, convicted in 1927 of the shooting murder of a Boston policeman.

Perry's six feet by four tunnel left the guards gasping.

It looked a little as though a wartime Seabee outfit helped dig it, they said.

Inside the guards reported finding: Two pickaxes, two hammers, a flashlight, a hand-made bit stock and drill, odd bits of metal, lengths of pipe, a socket for an extension light.

But the "head" was the big shock.

The guards said a well-made plaster model of a human head was found. It had "hair," too. The hair was pulled from a prison mattress. They theorized that when Perry finished his tunnel—he had about 44 feet to go to the outside wall—he planned to tuck the model head into his cot to delay the hunt.

Beneficiary to Get $20,000 If "S" Left off His Name

LEXINGTON, KY.—Mrs. Mary Elkin Moritz, left $1 to her only heir, a niece, and said in her will the residue of a $20,000 estate should go to a cousin if he spells his name as directed.

Leaving small gifts to several individuals and providing that $3,000 be paid to the Lexington cemetery for periodic refreshing of her grave, her will, probated today, called for the residue to go to the cousin, Roy T. Elkin, Bowling Green.

The conditions under which the cousin is to receive the money was listed as:

"Provided from this day on he does not add the 'S' onto his name (as Elkins). His father started this foolishness years ago, much to the disgust of the Elkin family. Roy is not to blame, but I have no relations by the name of Elkins. Roy can take his choice, not only for himself, but for his two cute boys.

"If anyone ever sees or hears Roy Elkin add the 'S' this person is to get $1,000 and the estate is to be sold and the money given to some hospital to help make comfortable some old man or woman to the memory of my father and mother."

SHORT STORY Lovingly, Temple

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

"DEAR TEMPLE: I was indeed glad to learn that you had obtained such a satisfactory position. I am sure that you will make a most efficient secretary. Frankly, I have been entertaining some misgivings about your future. Serving in the capacity of guardian to modern young ladies is, after all, hardly in my line, although I was only too glad to look after the daughter of my close friend, Tom Creighton, when he so unexpectedly passed away. I imagine you are quite a grown up young lady now, though it is hard for me to visualize you in any other form than a girl in pigtails and short dresses."

Aaron Bell, 34, looking 10 years younger, abruptly ceased dictating and stared hard at his stenographer. The stenographer, Miss Daniels by name, was small, dark, vivacious and exceedingly attractive. She had come to work in the law office of Attorney Aaron Bell two weeks previous. She was a capable girl, yet for some unexplainable reason Aaron hadn't been able to get used to her. That is to say, he felt nervous whenever he was dictating letters.

During the next few days Aaron began to get an inkling of why it was that he felt uneasy when dictating letters to Miss Daniels. He began to wonder if heretofore he hadn't been attempting to evade an issue. He asked himself, secretly, if Miss Daniels was becoming to mean more to him than just a secretary.

TWO DAYS LATER Aaron was rudely swept out of the realm of ecstasy (a state of mind brought about by his dinner date with Miss Daniels), by receiving another letter from his ward.

"Dear Guardian: My boss is really quite lovely, and has been displaying an unusual amount of interest in me since my last letter.

"At any rate, Aaron took Miss Daniels in his arms and kissed her . . .

I am not a little flattered by his attention and very much thrilled. In fact, I believe I could fall in love with him very easily."

Aaron rang for Miss Daniels. "Dear Temple: I demand that you resign from your present position at once. It's silly and absurd to think of a girl your age falling in love, especially with a man who makes love to every stenographer he employs."

That night Aaron suggested a drive through the country and was delighted when Miss Daniels accepted. It was a beautiful June evening, with a full moon and a cooling breeze blowing off the ocean. It might have been the atmospheric conditions which stirred to life the slumbering romance that lurks within the breast of every man, or it might have been the simple desire of a man for a mate. At any rate Aaron took Miss Daniels in his arms and kissed her and whispered nonsensical things that somehow seemed to fit the occasion.

THE NEXT MORNING he found another letter from Temple Creighton on his desk. "Dear Guardian: I'm sorry, but commands and demands from folks like you don't mean a thing when a girl is in love. And your little Temple is certainly in love. I expect she'll be proposed to in the very near future."

Aaron buzzed for Miss Daniels. "Dear Temple: This thing has gone far enough. It's a pity you couldn't have been endowed with at least a fraction of your father's good sense. It is my wish that you immediately send me the name and address of this boss of yours. I shall write to him at once."

Aaron had hoped that that night he would find himself courageous enough to offer a proposal of marriage to Miss Daniels. Yet when again they were seated on the cliff watching the moon come up out of the ocean, his courage failed.

Heavy-eyed he went to the office next morning to find a letter awaiting him from Temple Creighton.

"Dear Guardian: You were right. He isn't the man I thought he was. Apparently he has just been amusing himself, with no idea of asking me to marry him. I do wish you'd talk to him. His name is Aaron Bell. Lovingly, Temple."

SOCIETY EVENTS

Outline of Annual Program Given at Auxiliary Meeting

Antioch Unit 748, American Legion Auxiliary, met last Friday night in the Legion home with Mrs. Floyd Horton, president, presiding.

Mrs. Almond Thurwell, Grayslake, Tenth District director, was introduced.

Mrs. Harold Ellis, membership chairman reported the unit has 130 paid up members. Mrs. Ellis reported the theme used in membership will be a "Pyramid" because the department president comes from "Little Egypt," and we will be building her a pyramid of membership. All units being 100% by Oct. 31, will be stone cutters and will receive honorable mention in the Auxiliary News, the Sooner Drive ends on November 30th.

Membership in the American Legion Auxiliary means "Service-not Self," service to the disabled veteran and his dependents; to underprivileged children and service to the community, state and nation. Let's make Antioch unit either a Stone Cutter or a Sooner.

Mrs. Floyd Horton reported on the child welfare meeting held in North Chicago on October 9. The 10th District Legion, Auxiliary, 40 and 8 and the 8 and 40 will hold a Halloween party for the children of veterans in five different homes. There are 123 children in the five homes. The party will be held in the Sharvin Legion home in North Chicago, Sunday, Oct. 30, this party will take place of the annual Christmas party.

Five major activities which will occupy much of the attention of the Auxiliary members during the coming year, were outlined by Mrs. Horton at the meeting Friday evening. She declared the need for increased efforts in these fields was urgent. Mrs. Horton urged the membership workers to carry information about them to all eligible women in the community. The major Auxiliary activities outlined were, 1, service to veterans and his families; 2, welfare of children of veterans; 3, projects to help make the community a better place in which to live; 4, support of the American Legion's national security program to give the United States greater protection from war; 5, Americanism work to maintain the ideals of free government in America. These activities will form the back bone of the Auxiliary's program during the year ahead, the need for all of them is urgent, more active interest in them by more women is vitally important.

In Antioch unit there is opportunity for worthwhile service in any or all of these fields, it is hoped more of the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of war veterans will avail themselves of this opportunity this year.

Some of the contributions made to the various programs by Antioch unit this year are $48.00 to the treasure chest, which provides cigarettes, candy, books and gifts to hospitalized veterans; $15.00 to the insulin fund, there are now 297 veterans drawing from this fund; $15.00 vaponerfrin with 239 veterans receiving vaponerfrin; $5.00 Dwight Gift Shop; $15.00 for Thanksgiving cigarettes; $20.00 hospitality fund; $5.00 veterans craft; $10.00 canteen books; $25.00 for Easter gifts; $3.00 to Auxiliary loan fund; $9.50 to past presidents parley; besides contributions to the Rescue Squad fund and polio fund. The unit is contributing $5.00 a month for one year to the child of a veteran; $10.50 toward the expenses for a dance at Downey hospital on Sept. 29.

October's program being, Education of War Orphans. Mrs. Thurwell spoke on scholarships available to war orphans and post war orphans and the auxiliary loan fund which is available to children of veterans to aid them in completing either a business course or a college education.

Reports on the Caravan held in Waukegan Oct. 10 were given and Mrs. Lillian Hand reported on the first card party of the series.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. William Thieman and Mrs. Charles Cermak.

Ravensglan Holstein Cow Sets Production Record

Brattleboro, Vt.—A state production record has been made by a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by E. H. Ravenscroft, Antioch, Ill., according to The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Ravensglan Senora Sally is the new champion, taking the lead for all of Illinois' senior 2-year-old Holsteins milked three times daily in the Ten-Months Division, with the production of 649 pounds buttermilk and 16,747 pounds of milk testing 3.9%.

Qualification for the ten-months' division of the advanced registry include special calving requirements in addition to high production records. These requirements are intended to place emphasis on reproductive qualities as well as productive ones.

Testing was supervised by the University of Illinois, in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Mrs. Welden Bradburn, Evanston, president of the Northern District was the speaker of the afternoon. She used as her theme "The Overall Work of the Woman's Society."

In her talk she outlined the various programs of the society and told of the four-fold program for this year, 1, every woman of the church to be a member of the Society; 2, Read more and attend more meetings; 3, Need for more Christian workers; 4, Contribute one third more than last year.

Mrs. M. C. Cain planned the program and the October circle was in charge of the luncheon.

Library Notes

"Some Rain Must Fall," by William A. Adler, is an unusual novel about modern marriage. Written in a realistic style, Esther and Bob Anson's story might be the story of the young couple next door who allowed family loyalty to supersede the loyalty marriage partners must give to each other. Divorce and a graphically described murder trial highlight the action of the book. "Some Rain Must Fall" was presented to the Antioch Township Library.

Discriminating readers of every age enjoy a good biography. For the young readers, two excellent biographies have been presented to the Antioch Township Library in memory of David Lewin. "Benjamin West and his Cat Grimaldini" was written by the justly famous author of children's books, Marguerite Henry and is beautifully decorated with the drawings of Wesley Dennis. It's the story of a Quaker lad and his cat in Colonial days and how the Quaker lad became the father of American painting. Enid Meadcroft's "On Indian Trails with Daniel Boone" is as exciting as its title suggests. We travel with the famous pioneer along the Wilderness Road to the fabulously rich and beautiful Indian country called Kentucky and watch the founding of a pioneer home.

Miss Katherine Sackerson Surprises Relatives in Knowledge of Norwegian

(This is the second portion of an account of a trip to Norway given by Miss Katherine Sackerson of Indian Point.)

"The next stop was Kristiansand, a little town, about four thirty that afternoon. It was a gorgeous day, and there were lots of small motor boats out for a spin on the fjord. The coloring in the sky and water, needless to say, was magnificent.

"Finally after three hours we started out again, and the morning after we were slowly going up the Oslofjord; another beautiful sight. Being a fjord naturally, there were small mountains on either side with small isolated cabins here and there, but painted in brilliant colors with small patches of cultivated ground around them to raise their potatoes and grain.

At ten thirty the tenth morning we docked, and I was wondering if I would recognize my relatives from the pictures I had received as I had never seen them. After wandering around for a while I heard some one say from behind me, "Are you Mrs. Sackerson?" and I turned around and realized it was my cousin Harry. Immediately in Norwegian I said, "Is that you Harry?" which flabbergasted him, because he had been rehearsing his school English thinking I would not be able to speak Norwegian. He took me to his car, and there was Aunt Julia, and my cousin Mimi who lives in Oslo. We went to her apartment for another breakfast and such excitement. I rattled off all the Norwegian I could, but oh—so tired I could hardly keep my eyes open after we ate, and we did not start for Eidsvoll, about forty-five miles away, until two o'clock. That is where Aunt Julia lives and where I was going to make my headquarters. The time had been advanced so much on the boat that I could not keep up with it, which was the reason I was so tired. Every night the last five nights they pushed the clock up one hour. At last when it was one a. m., there it was only eight p. m. to me, and I could not go to sleep. Consequently, the morning also began too soon, and there I was in the middle.

My Aunt's two daughters-in-law, Jenny and Margaret in Eidsvoll, had a large dinner ready for us although it was only three thirty. I ate another meal, but simply had to excuse myself so I could take a nap, and I slept for about three hours.

Aunt Julia's house is on the river, so I knew I was not going to miss Fox Lake so much after all. She has five rooms to herself which was against the rules of the housing authorities, but she told them I was coming and that she had to have two bedrooms. They accepted it, but many old and young people have been effected by this law. (Mrs. Marthinsen, Anna Gulbrandsen).

In the morning when I came out to breakfast I thought I was back on the boat, because she also had a smorgasbord. I told her I could not eat like that for breakfast, but eventually she had me trained so I could eat twice as much as I had ever done before.

"Soon the neighbors were dropping in to see this American, and when I went out on the street they were all eyeing me until I felt like something out of a museum. That was because it was a small town, I thought, but when I went to Oslo they could also tell the difference. One young neighbor teen-ager that came in when I visited in a suburb of Oslo said, "you are the first American I have ever seen." I suppose I was to feel flattered. They looked about the same as we do to me; going to the beauty parlors as much as we do.

"The following Saturday Mimi, my cousin, and her husband Olaf came to spend the weekend with us, because Mimi and I were going to take a trip to Lillehammer on Monday.

"We left on the "Skibladner" (Aug. 11th), which is quite a good sized boat that leaves the dock at Eidsvoll eight thirty every morning during the summer, and arrives at Lillehammer at three fifteen.

"The shore line was beautiful, in fact, fantastic, although the mountains were farther back, at least the high ones. This river goes through a section called Gudbrandsdalen which extends for hundred of miles. It consists mostly of small farms with a few large ones here and there. Being that the Norwegian people like, color their buildings stood out and enhanced the scenery. Our first stop was Hamar; then Nes; and Gjøvik. On the opposite shore at Hamar there was a large school called Helgoen; there they take care of unmanageable boys.

"On board we had a grand dinner of pea soup and fresh salmon in a dining room which was quite modern and cozy. Here we are all accustomed to coffee after our dinner, but over there they serve the coffee about two hours later which left me hanging on a string until I got it.

"We looked around the town after we reached Lillehammer, then took a bus up a mountain to the Hyttel Hotel. It was at the very top, and from there the scenery was magnificent. Naturally, it was beautiful on the way going up also. There is something exciting about the rock formation, and forests covered with fir trees.

"The hotel was very modern with a bath in every room, well furnished and clean. Not at any time did I hesitate to go to bed in my travels around Norway. All hotels were immaculately clean, and I did not find them expensive, from seven to fourteen crowns a day. Approximately from $1.25 to $2.75.

"The next morning we started out for the Malhaugen which was our primary reason for going. It is an open air museum of old houses made of logs which date back to 11 and 12 hundred, and was started by a dentist named Anders Sandvig.

"There was not a dentist between Trondheim and Hamar, so this young man decided to practice in Lillehammer which was centrally located. But alas, because it took as many days to get there from the northern towns as it takes hours now many people could not avail themselves of the opportunity; so one day he took his tools, and set out to canvass the territory from one end to the other. Here I would like to tell you how he formed his ideas. It was while he was on this tour that he saw many things that had historic and cultural values, such as work done by the blacksmiths, in wrought iron, painting and wood carving which had been done to highest perfection.

"In his research, Anders Sandvig noticed the construction of the buildings, and the manner in which they were grouped on each estate. The richer the farmer the more buildings he had on his place. Some had as many as thirty buildings with four kept as residences; then there was a large barn for the horses; one for the cows, etc., a stable where they stored their meats and other provisions. They also kept their winter clothes in the stables in the summer, and their summer clothes in the winter. They impressed me very much being gaily painted.

Rulership with an undefeated team in the southeastern Wisconsin high school football conference still belongs to Coach Frank Bucci's Wilmot gridsters, following their fourth win on the title road at Walworth, 12 to 0 Friday afternoon. Bucci's boys were at Camp Randall field at Madison Saturday afternoon to see the Wisconsin and Navy in their intersectional skirmish. Wilmot crossed the Walworth goal line four times in the first half, but each time these touchdowns were nullified by penalties so it was a scoreless deal at the intermission. Taking the kickoff at the outset of the second half Wilmot moved straight down the field to make a score that stood up in the officials' book. Phil Brehm made counter on a 15 yard jaunt around his left end. The try for the point failed. In the fourth quarter, Wilmot intercepted a pass on its own 40. Dick Scott, sophomore half-back, sprinted 20 yards on a reverse around his left end to touchdown land. Wilmot accumulated 12 first downs to Walworth's six. The losers never penetrated inside of Wilmot's 35 yard line.

Friday night's assignment against Union Grove will be the last at home for the season. Dad's night will be observed and fathers of the Wilmot players will set in a special section, and will be honored during the half-time.

Sample its valve-in-head straight-eight power—the lively, ever-thrilling kind that comes from a high-compression, high-pressure Fireball engine.

You'll find a ride that is pillow-soft smooth, level and steady. You get ample wheelbase—in shorter bumper-to-bumper length for easy parking, garaging, maneuvering.

You'll find a car that handles light as lace—made even more of a breeze by Dynaflo Drive, available at your option at moderate extra cost.

So why not do a thorough matching-up of price tags, and what they'll buy around town?

In particular, put this straight-eight beauty up against the sixes, feature for feature, dollar for dollar—and you'll see for yourself there's nothing to touch this Buick as a buy.

Yes, go see your Buick dealer, take in the SPECIAL from every angle—and learn how quickly you can have one for your own.

Thank You, Mr. & Mrs. N. M. Davies
OF CONGERS, NEW YORKWe're Sure that Millions of Farmers and Consumers
Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play.

Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls.

These people are telling us, as Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Gentlemen:

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.,
New York City, New York

We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.

We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.

We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.

Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, those who manufacture your brands, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers are ALL satisfied?

We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.

Very sincerely,

Niles M. Davies
Eileen Davies

For 90 years this company has tried to build a sound business on the basis of giving consumers more good food for their money and giving farmers better markets for their products.

It is heartening to know that the public approves of the job we have done... to know that our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and farmers.

We will always be grateful to all our good friends who have offered us their help.

We are proud to live in a country where such things can happen.

For Paint Removal
When paint-and-varnish remover has been used on a surface to remove the old coating entirely, the surface should be cleaned thoroughly with turpentine, mineral spirits or wax remover and subsequently treated as a previously uncoated surface.

Pennsy Station
The Pennsylvania station in New York city handles daily an average of 830 passenger trains, including suburban, and more than 322,000 passengers, the greatest number for any passenger station in the United States.

Human Brain
The human brain, at birth, has acquired more than one-fourth of its adult size. By the time the average child is six years old, his brain is nine-tenths the size of a fully-developed adult brain.

Bloodhounds
The uninitiated may call the bloodhound's expression mournful. Actually, say fanciers of the breed, this canine aristocrat wears a "noble look of solemnity, dignity and power."

Speed of Bowling Ball
In one series of tests made recently the average speed of a bowling ball was found to be about 30 miles per hour, with 37.5 miles per hour as the highest speed recorded.

Thistle Salad
An odd dish prepared in southern France is a salad made of Alpine thistles. Served with a pepper sauce, the hearts of this plant are considered as tasty as artichokes.

Cardinal Stritch....

the Catholic church have reached its goal.

The Rev. Francis M. Flaherty is pastor of the 50-year-old parish, having served as its leader, since 1931. The Rev. Francis Gilbride is his assistant.

An open house and inspection of the school followed the services. Ladies of the Altar and Rosary Society served dinner to the Cardinal and the visiting clergy in the church hall and Holy Name society took charge of the refreshments served to the lay people in the school hall.

During the clergy banquet short talks were given by the pastor, Father Flaherty and by Msgr. Daniel Frawley and His Eminence, Cardinal Stritch.

History of the Parish

St. Peter's Parish, Antioch, was founded in 1900 by Father M. Bruton, becoming a mission of Rosecrans parish at that time. In 1904 Father Bruton was succeeded by Rev. J. P. Joyce, and the parish residence was transferred from Rosecrans to Antioch. Father J. E. Lynch took charge in 1909. In 1910 the missions of Rosecrans and Antioch being divided, St. Mary's at Fox Lake became a mission of Antioch.

St. Peter's Parish has always been known as the summer resort of the archdiocese. Within its territory there are over twenty lakes, which attract thousands of visitors during the summer months. In the fall it is a mecca for hunters. For many years Mass was said during the summer months at various locations: Channel Lake, Pavillion, Lake Villa etc., and for a while a large tent served as a main auditorium for Sunday masses in Antioch.

The little old frame church was too small for the resort crowds though it was adequate for the regular permanent residents. Father John Lynch had been pastor for twenty years when death came suddenly in February 1929. His pastorate as well as those of his predecessors was in the horse and buggy days. Roads were poor and often impassable. Support was meagre due to the small number of permanent parishioners. Nevertheless, Father Lynch and those priests who preceded him endeavored to preserve the Faith amidst a host of difficulties, and the fruits of their work are found in the strong religious convictions and fervent religious practices of so many old timers in this vicinity. As a result Antioch has been blessed with several religious vocations amongst whom are a diocesan priest, Father Joseph Savage and Sister Mary Margaret Paddock of the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent DePaul, Sister Mary Danette Kennedy of the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Sister Mary Kenneth Williamson of the Sisters of the Holy Child, Jesus, and Sister Mary Jolene Pachay of the Sisters of St. Francis.

Cardinal Makes Selection

Cardinal Mundelein looked around for a young energetic pastor to take over the task of building a church to accommodate the ever-increasing summer crowds. Father Daniel Frawley was selected. Coming from a large and populous parish in Chicago where he had been very active, it was quite a change for Father Frawley. The loneliness of country life especially in the winter, at which time he took charge, required some adjustment in the beginning. But it was not long before Father Frawley went amongst the people and instilled a new interest in a project which has been the ambition of his predecessor Father Lynch. A little over twenty-one thousand dollars was in the fund for the new church when Father Frawley arrived. Plans for the new church were drawn up by Leo Strelka, architect, and the firm of Wm. Lynch & Co. was selected to construct the building.

Ground was broken during the first week of June 1929. The corner stone of the new church was laid by Bishop Shell on July 21, 1929. The new church and rectory were dedicated on Sunday, August 10, 1930 by His Eminence, the late Cardinal Mundelein.

300 Families in Parish
The people, both summer residents and permanent parishioners, have given their wholehearted support, both financial and otherwise, to the work of building the parish school.

Antioch and its vicinity is a fast growing community. The housing situation in large cities like Chicago since the second world war has brought many young couples to our community. The seventy families who comprised the parish in 1931 has now grown to three-hundred families. If railroad transportation were better it would be difficult to predict the enormous growth of Antioch and its environs. It is our prayer that all this physical growth will be accompanied by a tremendous increase in the spiritual life of all our people. May God bless them.

ANTOINETTE BROWN was the first American woman to be an ordained minister. She became a pastor in 1853 at the age of 28.

TIPS FOR COOKS

APPLE PIES, AH!

Only one out of seventeen makes her apple pie deep enough. The correct depth is 1 1/4 inch. To enhance the flavor, place a few slices of sharp cheese beneath the top crust and let it melt down during the baking. A nice change from serving at the side of the plate. Also a few hard candy lemon drops among the apple slices will do wonders for flavor. If you can use maple sugar for the sweetening, plus a small amount of old-fashioned molasses, you'll have an apple pie that's just out of this world. We welcome your recipes and tips.
